INCENTIVES INCREASE FOR EACH % IMPROVEMENT

The Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E) Multifamily Upgrade Program provides incentives to multifamily property owners that make smart energy improvements. For each percent improvement in energy use, a property earns more incentives. Compare the chart on the previous page and the table below to find out which upgrades make most sense for you.

Energy Savings	PG&E Incentive
10% - 19%	$400 - $675 per unit
20% - 29%	$750 - $1,425 per unit
30% - 39%	$1,500 - $2,175 per unit
40% - 50%	$2,250 - $3,000 per unit

LOW FLOW SHOWERHEADS

Changing your old showerheads for low flow models is really easy and will save water and energy costs.

ROOF INSULATION R-49

Adding attic insulation is one of the first things smart building owners do to reduce cost. It's an easy and cost effective way to reduce bills in both summer and winter.

EFFICIENT HEATING AND COOLING

Reduce maintenance costs and resident calls with new heating and cooling equipment. Avoid code-minimum equipment; ENERGY STAR rated heating and cooling equipment will save you more on bills with little increase in upfront costs.

WINDOWS U-0.30 SHGC 0.30

Energy efficient windows not only modernize your building, they increase resident comfort and save energy.

ENERGY STAR® APPLIANCES

New, efficient refrigerators and common area washing machines will make residents happy and provide great energy savings.

HIGH EFFICACY INDOOR LIGHTING

Upgrade old fixtures with the latest LED fixtures and see great savings and improved light quality.

HIGH EFFICIENCY WATER HEATER

Heating water is one of the highest energy expenses faced by multifamily owners, but also one of the areas where the biggest improvements can be made. The Multifamily Upgrade Program can help you find the best water heating strategy for your property.
